

DPT Monthly Newsletter

Cooler weather is in the air and we love it that FALL is here! While the weather is cooling down, the activities at the Donaldson-Bannister Farm are not. Be sure to check out the upcoming events that we have - History Alive, Scarecrow Row, Apple Cider Days, our new Celebrate the Season Virtual Auction - and always our Yoga & Fitness classes. There's something for everyone! Be sure to check our website for details.

History Alive

Join us this Saturday, October 10, for our next History Alive program - The Ancient Ways of the Cherokee and How We Can Use Them Today.

Our presenter, Mark Warren, believes today's society can – and should – learn some valuable lessons and skills from those native people who inhabited the southeastern part of the United States hundreds of years before European explorers ever landed on its shores. Join us for a discussion and slide presentation on the most common native plants and trees that were used by the Cherokee for food, medicine, insect repellent, crafts, shelter and fire.

History Alive will be held under the tent at the Donaldson-

Bannister Farm for social distancing from 9:30-11am. $5 DPT Members / $10 Non-Members. No prior reservations are required.

Farm to Table Dinner & Bluegrass

A fabulous time was had by all at our 2nd Annual Farm to Table Dinner this past weekend. And all while keeping within COVID-19 guidelines. Thank you to Marlow's Dunwoody for the food and Sojourner for the Bluegrass music! We'll be back next fall - hopefully with our long family-style table.

Note: If you weren't able to register this year before the event filled up, consider joining DPT. Members get early registration.
